Managing IP names Eileen McMahon a top IP practitioner

Torys is proud to share that partner Eileen McMahon has been named one of the Top 250 Women in IP in 2024 by Managing IP. This marks the eighth consecutive year that Eileen has received this award, recognizing her exceptional legal acumen and outstanding client service over the years, and reinforcing her position as a leader in IP in Canada and internationally.

Eileen's reputation is characterized by her unique and extensive experience and strong market presence. As co-founder of both Torys' Intellectual Property and Food and Drug Regulatory practices, she represents the entire spectrum of companies on regulatory clearance and intellectual property protection of products. From life sciences, to agribusiness, to consumer products and more, Eileen supports her clients to identify and protect IP and regulatory assets, obtain market exclusivity, manage high-risk situations, and understand the impact of current and proposed laws on clients' business operations.

This award is added to Eileen's impressive list of accolades and recognitions, including a Band 1 ranking in Intellectual Property by Chambers & Partners and being listed in publications such as Chambers Global, The Legal 500, Best Lawyers in Canada, Who's Who Legal, IAM Global Leaders Guide, and more.

You can learn more about the Top 250 Women in IP award on Managing IP's website.

Congratulations to Eileen on this very well-deserved recognition!
